SWALLOWS POISON TO END HIS LIFE

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Hampton, Va., October 4.—At the result of swallowing four bicarbonate of mercury tablets in an attempt to commit suicide, Sergeant Harry Sampson, of the Sixth Company, Heavy Coast Artillery, is a patient in the Fort Monroe Hospital with a sure death ahead of him. The sergeant swallowed the tablets in his home in Thomas today in a fit of melancholia. He is a quiet, unassuming man, and has been the subject of medical attention and sent to the post hospital, but the physicians admit that the chances of his recovery are slight.

According to the doctors the artilleryman may live several days, but the deadly poison will finally eat a way through the lining of his stomach, when dissolution will take place.
